'PortFest' returns to West Sac, bringing fun, food & music

■ Festival opens Friday with a barbeque and fireworks, continues with ship tours, carnival rides, food & fun

By Steve Marschke

Thousands of people are expected to visit the Port of Sacramento on Industrial Blvd. in West Sacramento for a weekend of PortFest '96 festivities.

The event is sponsored by the Port of Sacramento, West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, and other local institutions.

Highlights include:

■ A Chamber of Commerce barbeque fundraiser Friday evening. Tickets are $23 and information is available from the Chamber at 371-7042.

■ A fireworks show beginning about 8:30 p.m., shot from a barge at the port and visible from the docks and surrounding community.

■ All-day rides are available from the River Otter Water Taxi, which is planned to eventually serve the Sacramento River connecting Sacramento and West Sacramento.

■ A carnival, which runs 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

■ Tours of the California Maritime Academy's "Golden Bear" training ship, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days.

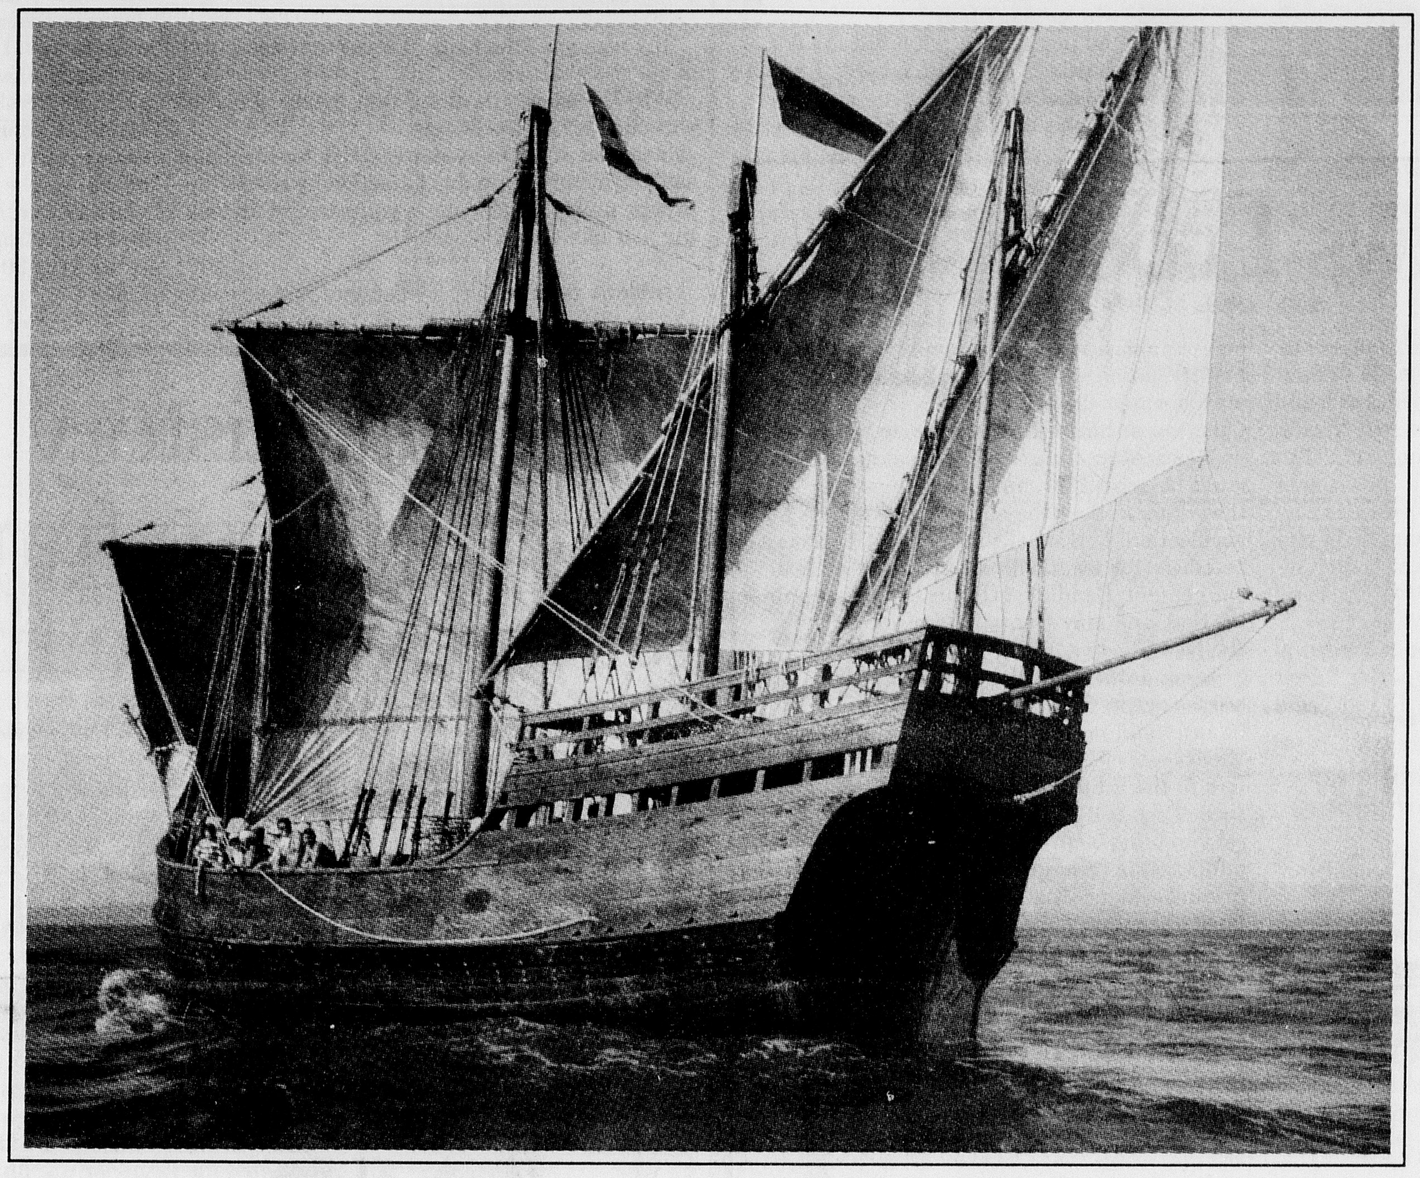

■ Tours of the replica of Columbus's "Nina" both days.

■ A barefoot water ski show at 1:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

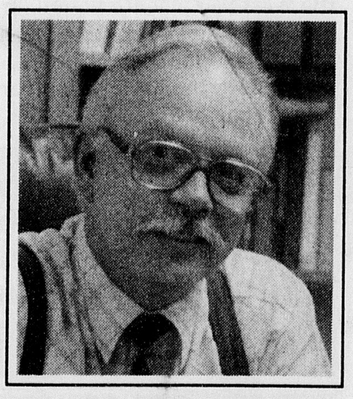

■ A wide variety of music and entertainment, helicopter rides, children's activities, train rides, displays, booths and other attractions.

Sue McGowan is chairing the event, and Chamber executive director Steve Roberts is excited about how things are shaping up for the weekend.

"I am so jazzed about what's going to happen," he said. "Sue McGowan has taken the bull by the horns and PortFest is going to be outstanding."

Possibly the most historically accurate replica of the "Nina," sailed by Christopher Columbus to the New World in 1492, this hand built Spanish caravel arrives in West Sacramento on Friday. The boat was featured in the Gerard Depardieu film "1492" after a 4,000 mile, unescorted maiden voyage from Brazil to Costa Rica in 1991. The boat was built in Valencia, Brazil, using only adzes, axes, hand saws, chisels and naturally shaped timbers. To help offset the costs of maintaining and staffing the 97-foot, 100-ton vessel, organizers charge $3.50 for adults, $3 for senior citizens and $2.50 for students to attend a self-guided tour.

West Sac gets rep on Capitol Corridor board

By Steve Marschke

A West Sacramento City Council member will sit on the currently-forming board which governs the "Capitol Corridor" rail system, which runs from Colfax (near Auburn in the Sierra foothills) to San Jose and is designed to serve commuters.

Intercity passenger service operated on the 153-mile rail corridor. Southern Pacific operates freight traffic on the line as well, but will be replaced beginning tomorrow with Union Pacific operations.

The Capitol Corridor passenger service began in 1991 with three daily round trips, and added a fourth in April. The train does not currently stop in West Sacramento, but could as the city grows and local demand for the commuter train increases, said Cindy Tuttle, the local council member appointed to the interim governing board.

Tuttle said it was significant that West Sacramento will have direct representation on Capitol Corridor matters.

"The Capitol Corridor train goes through our city," she said. "That's why it's important that we have representation on this board. This board will be the policy maker for future improvements and future (new) stops."

Tuttle said that local representation will also help protect the city's financial interests, since the train's operations may force it to look to new funding sources in several years. Some of these funding sources, such as transportation improvement funds may become sought after by several competing interests.

The interim Capitol Corridor Joint Powers Board (CCJPB) awaits ratification by member jursidictions ranging from the Bay Area to the foothills. It is chaired by Suisun City mayor Jim Spering.

The Yolo County Congestion Management Agency (an alternate role played by members of the Yolo County Transit Authority, of which Tuttle is a member) appointed Tuttle to the CCJPB.

The CCJPB itself was authorized by state legislation.

Most of city is on treated river water -- with just a touch of well water

■ City's well water system is kept active in case of emergency, and small amounts of groundwater are served up through local faucets

By Steve Marschke

Although several West Sacramento residents have said they were not aware of it, the city still dispenses a small amount of well water alonin local water pipes along with treated surface water from the Bryte Bend drinking water plant.

One Park Blvd.-area resident said he learned this after investigating sand in his plumbing.

"About three years ago, shortly after each weekend, I would get stomach cramps," said resident Phillip H. Crawford. "I assumed the port well water was being mixed in and my system was not accommodating the minerals in the water, although I have no proof of that. Then when I found sand in the toilet tank, I couldn't figure out where it was coming from. I still don't know whether well water was the cause of it, but it alerted me."

But Jerry Lo, director of public works for the city, said only a small percentage of the city water system's water was from wells -- and that there was a very good reason why the city didn't simply use 100 percent treated river water.

"Whenever you have surface water (such as that from the Sacramento River) and you have groundwater as a backup, you have to blend it," said Lo. "We need to fire up (the well system) once in a while."

Lo said that no more than one or two percent of the water from city water system taps is made up of this well water, but that this well system is kept active in order to be ready if water from the river becomes unavailable due to a drought or other disaster.

The well water comes from a well in the Port Sacramento Industrial Park area, near Enterprise Blvd. in the western area of town.

Lo added that you "cannot tell" that this small amount of well water is blended in with treated river water from the city's award winning drinking water treatment plant. The water coming to local homes "meets all standards," he added.

Several isolated areas of the city remain unconnected to the city water system, and rely on local well water.

But the West Sacramento region approved construction of the Bryte Bend treatment plant before the city's 1987 incorporation, in response to a demand for higher quality drinking water.

Fireworks show

West Sacramento will be treated to a rare display of fireworks Friday night as the city's PortFest '96, celebrating the Port of Sacramento, kicks off for a weekend of entertainment.

The show will start about 8:30 p.m., and fireworks will be lit from a barge at the port.

The port is located in the heart of West Sacramento, with an entrance near Harbor Blvd. and Industrial Blvd.

Local youth dies in apparent suicide

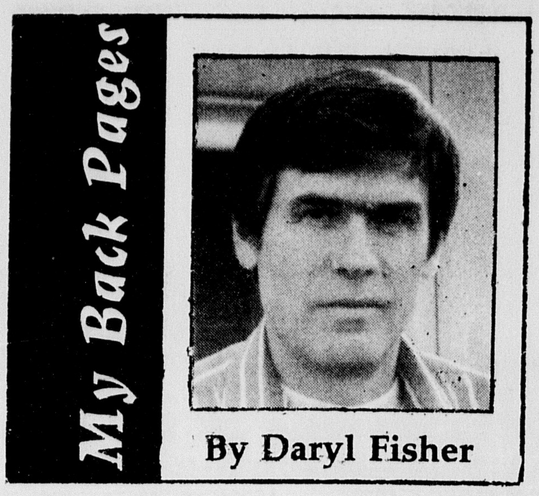

A 14-year old West Sacramento girl was found dead of an apparent suicide Tuesday morning.

The Teal Dr. resident was found by her parents, who summoned medical help.

"She was found hanging this morning in their garage with an extension cord wrapped around her neck and a rafter," said Lt. Russ Thomas of the West Sacramento Police Dept.

Police and the county coroner's office sent representatives to the scene. Although the incident was an apparent suicide, the girl's death remains under investigation.

Aura cleansing, the mayor's hair & the Class of '66

The very nice lady who cuts my hair also happens to be into 'existence beyond the visible, observable universe' (she hates the word supernatural) and from time to time, completely free of charge, she cleanses my aura for me. Now, as I understand it, one's aura is a rather subtle, yet colorful kind of radiation which surrounds our bodies. Our senses apparently create it, and depending on our moods and the kind of life we're living, it can get pretty grimy. I'm also told mine has too much blue in it, and that I have to stop taking life so seriously. Anyway, to get one's aura thoroughly cleansed, the cleansee has to sit perfectly still while the one doing the scrubbing floats his or her hands (in a kind of rub-a-dub motion) all over your body, without actually touching it of course. It also supposedly helps if you close your eyes, relax, and only think good thoughts while this is taking place.

When I recently mentioned to a friend (I'll call her Darby) that I had just got my aura cleaned, she looked at me real funny and said, "Is that right?"

"It's really quite a refreshing experience," I assured her.

"Who did it?" she asked.

"The lady who cuts my hair."

"Really? And just exactly what did she do?"

"Well," I admitted, "I'm not too sure. I had my eyes closed most of the time."

"I definitely don't envy her," she said matter-of-factly.

"Why not?" I asked.

"Because knowing you, she probably had to use a whole can of Ajax and a half-dozen Brillo pads."

While I was strolling up and down the aisles at Raley's the other day doing the weekly grocery shopping (I had made the mistake of mentioning to my wife that I thought I could possibly do a better job of it than her, to which she immediately replied, "Then be my guest!"), I came across the section which houses all the products which men my age use to help keep their hair from turning white. As I was trying to figure out which size bottle of Grecian Formula to purchase (I couldn't believe how expensive they all were, even the small ones), a friend who I have known since grade school (I'll call him Jimmy) strolled up to me, smiled and said, "You are getting pretty gray, aren't you?"

"Go away," I said.

"If I was you," he said, "I'd get that really big one -- the giant size."

"Why?" I asked, thinking that maybe the stuff was cheaper by the bucket.

He looked at my hair, slowly shook his head and said, "Because if you don't start doing something drastic pretty quick, you're going to end up looking just like Greg Potnick."

I recently received a two-week-late birthday card which was particularly moving. It had a big, stupid looking dog on the outside, and when I opened it up, it read: You're another year older, but things could be worse! Just think if you were a dog. Not only would you be seven years older, but you'd also have bad breath and drink out of the toilet bowl.

******

Do you know why men can't get mad-cow disease? My 21-year-old daughter tells me it's because they're all pigs.

And finally, a quick plug for the James Marshall High School class of 1966's 30-year reunion, which will be held October 12th at 6 p.m. at the Delta King restaurant in Old Sacramento. I hear it's going to be a great time for all and anyone who would like to attend who hasn't already received a flyer can call Jeannie Driver (am I the only person who still calls her Rabbit?) at 371-1851. Jeannie asked me if I would consider writing a column about some of the fond memories I have of that fun-loving class, but since two of its most spirited members gleefully took turns breaking my little adolescent heart into tiny, almost unrecognizable pieces (not that I hold grudges or anything like that), I think I'll pass. However, I will say that if you want to really enjoy yourself and laugh until dawn, you definitely don't want to miss the 30-year reunion of the JMHS Class of 1966!

West Sac history group plans to raise funds to restore antique fire trucks

By Louisa R. Vessell
West Sac. Historical Society

The West Sacramento Historical Society will hold their first fall general meeting on Tuesday, September 17, at the Arthur F. Turner Library, 1212 Merkley Avenue, West Sacramento, from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

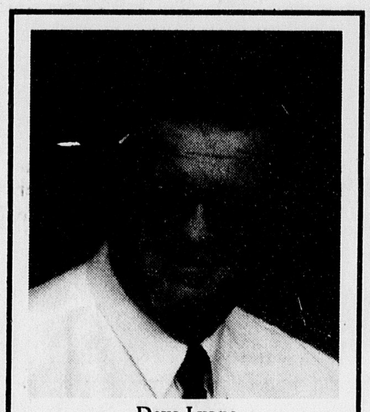

Two representatives from the Pioneer Mutual Hook and Ladder Society will address the group. This organization is the official historic volunteer group for the Sacramento Fire Department to collect fire department memorabilia and preserve their department's history. They will bring historic items for display to the meeting. This is a timely program since the West Sacramento Historical Society is in the process of receiving two historic surplus fire engines from the City of West Sacramento: "Old Mary," which was built by the West Sacramento Volunteer Fire Department in the 1920s; and "The Wine Barrel," which was built by the Bryte Volunteer Fire Department in the 1930s.

Refreshments will be served at the meeting, which also celebrates the organizations' third birthday.

The society is planning a steak and chicken dinner fundraiser to generate funds to restore the fire engines. Catering will be provided by Dave Farmer and Rick Mayoral's "R and D Catering." The dinner is scheduled for Saturday, October 26, at the West Sacramento VFW Hall on Soule Street, from 6 to 10 p.m. The cost for the dinner is $20 per person. Contact Jeri Hughes Wingfield at 371-7678 for more details.

The society is interested in recruiting more volunteers to assist with their various projects. Anyone interested in getting involved with the organization should contact Lana Paulhamus at 372-5117.

For further information contact either Bryan Turner at 371-6915 or Louisa R. Vessell at 372-3453.

The Sports Insider —

The St. Louis Rams lost again to the 49ers without the 49ers throwing a touchdown pass.

Same old Rams, new city!!

The 49ers shut out St. Louis 34-0 last Sunday at 3 Com Park and Steve Young has not thrown a touchdown pass in his last four and a half games. No San Francisco quarterback has thrown a touchdown pass since the second quarter of a Monday night win over Minnesota on Dec. 18. But the good news is that the 49ers might have discovered a running game to go along with their great passing attack. The Niners are 2-0 and have scored all six of their touchdowns on the ground!

49ers have a bye week.

The Raiders continue to lose, but this will all come to an end this weekend, when the Raiders host Jacksonville in their home opener. Jeff Hostetler returns to the starting lineup and the Raiders should be ready to win one for the fans! If they lose, Coach White will be fired!!

No sellout by Friday morning, and the game will be blacked out in the Sacramento area. Kansas City, Denver and San Diego are tied atop the AFC West 2-0. The Raiders, who closed the 1995 season with six straight losses, are in last place with Seattle at 0-2.

Last week, I gave you three winning picks in the 49ers, Chiefs and Packers, so are you ready for week three!!

Here they are:

Raiders 31, Jaguars 13
Broncos 38, Buccaneers 17
Steelers 23, Bills 17

Speaking of boxing, did you see Bruce Sheldon defend his heavyweight title against Mike Tyson last Saturday in Las Vegas? Sheldon lasted one minute and 30 seconds before falling down in the first round from a punch that grazed the top of his head. I have never seen a heavyweight champion look so happy that the referee stopped his fight. Sheldon was paid $5 million -- that's probably why he was smiling after the fight.

The next pay-for-view card will include Oscar De La Hoya and undefeated Miguel Gonzales for De La Hoya's title and Julio Cesar Chavez against Joey Gamache in the semi-main event.

The Sacramento Knights are in third place in the Western Division as the season nears the last weeks of league play. Next home game at the Arco Arena is on Friday, Sept. 13, against San Diego.

See ya next week!!

RC frosh beat Center in scrimmage

By Chuck Robinson

Last Thursday, in a scrimmage against Center, the River City High School freshman football team looked very impressive, outscoring Center 22 to 16. On offense, the outstanding players appear to be Brooks Marino (Q.B.); Mulfred Shaw (H.B.); Robert Cervantes (H.B.); and Jacob Brown (Center). On defense, Richie Cardenas (Corner Back); Marc Young (Middle Linebacker); Joe Castro (Def. Tackle); and Ismael Luera (Middle Linebacker).

In the scrimmage with Center, the top ground gainer was Malfred Shaw, with 77 yards; followed by Robert Cervantes, 59 yards; Eric King, 47 yards; Brooks Marino, 19 yards; Richie Cardenas, 18 yards; Randy Brewer, 16 yards; and Prak Pich, 12 yards. Quarterback Marino completed 6 out of 10 passes for 87 yards and 3 touchdowns. Cardenas caught 5 of 6 passes for 86 yards and all three touchdowns.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

An important crossroad

An important set of meetings is coming up this month, as the city deals with the vital but unglamorous problem of what to do with its sewage.

The choice comes down to two options, which were at last estimate roughly equal in cost.

The first is to build a new West Sacramento sewage treatment plant, to replace the totally inadequate plant currently operating on South River Road and discharging into the Sacramento River Road near Clarksburg.

The plant can be called inadequate both due to its famously poor track record, and to its design.

To make a long story short, the plant was never designed to handle the unusually heavy share of industrial wastes that form the city's sewage stream. About half of the city's sewage is from industrial users, and the other half comes from residential sources. This unusually heavy industrial component leaves the plant vulnerable to "upsets" caused by stray chemicals sneaking into the waste stream and damaging the biological ecosystem harnessed by the plant to break down wastes.

The second option at this crossroads is to contract with Sacramento County to treat West Sacramento's wastes, and pipe it across the river. Because of its relatively large volume, Sacramento can easily absorb West Sacramento's industrial wastes.

This plan has the advantage of being achievable quicker than building a new local plant. It also will help avoid the touchy problem of where to put a new West Sacramento sewage plant. After all, these facilities are not exactly highly sought after as neighbors.

The danger to this plan is that in turning over the sewage treatment task to Sacramento, West Sacramento will also have to turn over some authority and control over its own residents and customers. Will dealing with Sacramento, somewhat at their mercy, prove a mistake?

The challenge for West Sacramento is to avoid the trap it has made in the past, of tripping over itself to take the fastest possible path to development and growth, and finding out that it hadn't really given enough thought to long-range practicality.

Let's make the best decision for the long run.

Letters to the Editor

New record for bias. . .

In regards to your editorial of September 4 concerning campaign reform for city council races in West Sacramento, I have never seen such blatant favoritism for one candidate in all my life. I have always felt that the News-Ledger was somewhat fair and impartial but your editorial has hit an all-time low.

Not only are your arguments illogical, they are erroneous.

First, city council candidate Dorothy Adamo never called for the lifting of the $250 contribution limit, nor did she oppose the use of $100 contribution limit in the future.

Second, if we follow your illogical argument and say 5000 people contribute one dollar each to popular candidate A and a corporation contributes a lump sum of $5000 to candidate B, both candidates would still be on equal footing.

Third, whom do you think the people of West Sacramento are going to vote for, hard-working popular candidate A, or sell out candidate B? Do you really think the people of West Sacramento are that stupid?

The time for honest campaign reform which includes not only contribution limits but also campaign spending limits is now. It is too bad that you are too biased and narrow-minded to see that.

Sewage options

(This letter was attached to a September 5 letter from the City of West Sacramento regarding public meetings on September 23 to discuss the city's future sewage treatment options. For information, call 373-5854 -- Editor.)

I recently received the enclosed letter concerning The City of West Sacramento hooking up REGIONALLY with the Sacramento Regional Sanitation District to treat our wastewater (sewage). The other choice is to build a new wastewater treatment plant.

What disturbs me about the letter is not that I received one, but that the other 12,000 plus households did not. The City staff sent letters only to "interested residents and businesses" and "commercial or industrial user." We are all users of the existing facility.

All parcel owners will have to pay for the regional hook up or for the new facility. The initial regional hook up fee is $10,000,000. That is $10,000,000 of West Sacramento's revenue that will be sent to Sacramento. Plus there will be an annual fee of at least $10,000,000 per year. The City's 1996-1997 budget for sewer treatment is $2,890,974. The difference of $7,109,026 will have to come from somewhere. You can count on your bill being at least doubled. Besides losing the revenue; jobs will be lost too.

I am billed monthly $17.69 (residential 1 or 2 units) for sewer. If I am going to be paying double, then my monthly bill will be $35.38.

If you are concerned about this issue, please attend the public meeting on Monday, September 23, from 3 to 5:30 p.m. or 7 to 9:30 p.m. It will be held at City Council Chambers located at 2101 Stone Blvd. in West Sacramento.

Transit

I am writing to introduce ourselves to your newspaper and to the community. My name is Kevin Klilka and I will be the manager for your new transit contractor, Laidlaw Transit Services. Under contract to the Yolo County Transit Authority, we will begin operating the Yolobus bus service on September 1.

As your new bus operator, it will be our goal to provide the community safe, friendly and dependable transportation. Having been in the transportation business for many years, I know how important it is for the bus service to not only run on time, but to be flexible enough to respond to individual concerns where possible. We want to exceed the community's expectations. The vast majority of our employees have been serving your community for the past several years and are looking forward to continuing to do so with Laidlaw Transit Services.

My wife and three children have relocated to Yolo County and are looking forward to becoming a part of your community.

Six lanes. . .

At the September 5 Planning Commission meeting, several Southport folks were sporting "No (on) 6 lanes" (between South River Road and Marshall Road) campaign stickers. An apparent oversight by CalTrans staff failed to bring the 6-lane factor for this stretch of Jefferson Blvd. to public's attention until now.

Some Jefferson Blvd. residents envisioned the proposed "4-lane widening to 6 lanes" as bringing the highway next to their homes, thus reducing the livability and resale value of same.

Since this item was "continued to a date uncertain" and will still be subject to City Council review, we have time to think about effects of 6 lanes and alternatives.

When we widened Harbor Blvd. from 2 to 4 lanes with bike lanes and a 2-way left turn lane, we eliminated on-street parking and turn-outs were not provided for bus stops at our sidewalks. So when a bus does stop, it hampers the flow of traffic in the right lane, causing those affected to either slow down, stop, or swing to the passing lane and this increases the chances of accidents.

So perhaps we should stick to the 4 lanes and in selected areas of this stretch (where same would not hurt homes anymore than 4 lanes, if that's possible), allow for "roadside rests," bus stops with shelters, phones, etc. Factoring in these items to improve traffic flow with 4 lanes could improve air quality close enough to 6 lanes without said improvements.

From the Pioneer Bridge southward, it is time to plant those new shade trees to not only replace those north of 15th Street on Jefferson Blvd., but elsewhere as trees must be taken out or just where more are desired, with usual precautions.

If CalTrans and others insist on 6 lanes -- rather than an improved 4-lane plan -- City Planning/Council should offer those owners of homes most affected by 6 lanes the rezoning and or help in modifying their homes.

City holds hearings on sewage issue

The City of West Sacramento has announced the beginning of a four month public process for determining the future of how wastewater treatment will be handled in the City. With the anticipated growth of Southport coming after the completion of the Palamidessi Bridge and limited capacity at the existing South River Road wastewater treatment plant the City needs to look at alternative ways of providing for wastewater treatment. These could include the construction of a new wastewater treatment plant in or near Southport or connection to the Sacramento County Regional Sanitation District plant.

The first phase of this process will be the holding of public meetings on Monday, September 23rd to identify community issues and values associated with wastewater treatment. Residents and commercial users are invited to attend either a 3 p.m. or 7 p.m. meeting in the city council chambers at 2101 Stone Blvd. Based on the information received at these meetings alternative methods of providing wastewater treatment will be identified and evaluated. A community decision on what alternative will be selected is anticipated to be made early next year.

The firm of CH2M Hill has been selected to assist the City in the decision making process. CH2M Hill has been involved in similar community consensus building processes in the cities of Palo Alto and Santa Rosa.

For additional information on the city's wastewater treatment decision making process please contact Steve Rikala of the city's Community Development Department at 373-5854.

"The feeling I have after Thursday's scrimmage with Center and today's scrimmage Jamboree," said head coach Chris Baker, "is that we're really coming together as a club. My expectations at this point are high. We'll find out Thursday against Marysville if it's warranted."

This Thursday, River City will play at home against Marysville for their first league game. Game time is 6 p.m. Come out and cheer the freshman club to a championship.

LETTERS from p. 5

A final note on trimming trees: Those in charge assured me, "We need permits to cut limbs larger than 5 inches in diameter (Parks and Rec. Dept.); otherwise `the City is out of it.' If neighbor's tree threatens your home, you can cut it to property line legally," But it would be nice if on the reverse of our City utility billing we could have a standard complaint form which could be sent in with payment and City staff could forward that complaint to the owner of offending property. If said owner refused to correct problem and (say) big limb of leaning tree breaks off and damages your home and/or injuries those on your property, a record of your warning prior to the preventable damage would be on file at city hall. Knowing this to be the case, owner of offending property would seem more inclined to correct same, including absentee landlords.

Hors d'oeuvres have always a pathetic interest for me: they remind me of one's childhood that one goes through, wondering what the next course is going to be like—and during the rest of the menu one wishes one had eaten more of the hors d'oeuvres.

Local Items

A word of explanation is offered herewith for the lack of "local items" in to-day's Independent. The editor finds that "Local Items" in the Independent is most interesting to readers and invariably finds that when the paper is opened it is to that column readers revert first. 'Local Items" are gathered every Thurs y afternoon by actual hard work and painstaking industry. Every place of business in Washington is searched and many private homes are visited for these interesting items.

Yesterday (Thursday) was registration day and all places of business were closed. On that account very few items could be picked up. In addition rain poured all during the afternoon, so much so that in several places streets and sidewalks were flooded and impossible to navigate. These may not be considered by some to be sufficient cause for a lack of items, but the writer confesses that he is human and being so is weak like all other mortals.

The Independent welcomes all items of interest as well as personals. It asks its readers to send them to the Postoffice in Washington or to the business office at 8th and J streets, Sacramento, Peoples' Savings Bank Building, room 202.

The Sacramento River registered at 3 p. m. yesterday on the U. S. gauge at the S. P. bridge 2 feet 6 inches at low tide. The raise at that hour was not less than 8 inches above normal and was steadily climbing. For river traffic the great rain of yesterday did much benefit, but it is feared that great damage was done to crops in West Sacramento. Many acres of beans are ready to be cut, and some have already been stacked ready for the thrasher. The streets in Washington were in poor shape yesterday in some places practically impassable. Great pools of water gathered on sidewalks and streets undermining some and washing away others.

The intake of the Washington Water Works was greatly relieved by yesterday's fall of rain. Threatened with a drought there was danger that the intake might be left high and dry if the river receded much farther. At a late hour yesterday afternoon water was flowing freely towards the intake promising a plentiful supply from this date on.

The safe arrival of Charlie Mains in France was assured last Monday when his sister, Mrs. Allerton, received a card from army headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. C. Hart has returned from Oakland where she spent several days visiting her sister.

F. W. Nitche and wife of Oakland spent a few days of the past week visiting the home of Mrs. Curtis Hoffman. They returned to Oakland Monday evening.

Yesterday forenoon the wooden pavement on the incline of the S. P. bridge near Third street became suddenly expanded by the heavy rain and lacking space to spread it bulged into the air, permitting a flood of water to run underneath. Consequences were fatal for the wooden blocks started to float away. A force of men was sent from Sacramento to stop the blocks, but in doing so many were split and made unfit for further use.

The salmon season which opened on September 1st promises fair returns for local fishermen. At the Pankost fishery last Monday 2600 pounds were received from Paintersville and points north. Some salmon are being caught near town and south near the riverside bath house. The heavy rain of yesterday will be of great benefit in getting the salmon farther up stream.

J. N. Wilson, who was a visitor at the home of his parents during a few days of the State Fair, has returned to San Francisco.

GREAT RECLAMATION PROJECT WILL PLACE YOLO BASIN LAND UNDER CULTIVATION

CONTRACTS FOR DREDGING HAVE BEEN LET BY THE CONWAY LAND COMPANY FOR BUILDING OF GREAT LEVEES.

Immediately west of Washington and at the western edge of the Yolo Basin a great reclamation project is under way which will mean the production of great quantities of farm produce.

These lands lie just west of the Yolo by-pass and extend from the Southern Pacific Company's right-of-way near Webster Station to the right-of-way of the Sacramento Northern about ten miles north. The lands are owned by the Conway Land Company, which has already let a contract with a dredging concern for building the east levee, and which will expend half a million dollars on development work within the next year or so.

These lands were formerly the property of G. W. Chapman, and they are commonly known as the Chapman lands. They have been used since early days for sheep pasture. They were acquired by the Conway Land Company about two years ago. It is the intention of the owners to bring them under improvement as rapidly as possible and by so doing to aid in the government's program for greater production of foodstuffs.

The development of this great acreage is important for several reasons. Not only does it mark another step forward in the progress of the Sacramento Valley by the conversion of sheep grazing lands into productive farm gardens, but it will also mark the first reclamation district on the west side of the Yolo by-pass.

On the east side of the by-pass the lands are now all thoroughly reclaimed from District 1600, near the Fremont weir, to the point on the south where the by-pass empties into the Sacramento River. This will no doubt be followed by other reclamation districts on the west side of the by-pass, with the result, before many years, that both sides of the waterway will be levied for its entire length.

The plans for the improvement of these lands call for the installation of a battery of pumps in the Sacramento River. The land is suited to the production of fruit, alfalfa, rice, grain and other farm products. Its development will mean much to Sacramento's development, as all the products from the big acreage will be marketed through Sacramento.

One of the interesting features about the plans is the fact that G. W. Chapman, the former owner, was always an opponent of reclamation and opposed the formation of many reclamation districts on the east side of the by-pass on the ground that they would injure his land, and now, under new ownership, these lands are the first on the west side of the by-pass to be reclaimed.

The plans of the Conway Company will be welcome news to the residents of Yolo County, for when this vast tract is improved it will add millions of dollars to the value of the annual farm products of the county.

In a few years' time after the improvements have been fully developed, they will add greatly to the assessed valuation of the county, just as the Natomas district added millions to the wealth of Sacramento County and as the reclamation of the Sutter Basin added millions to the wealth of Sutter County.

INFIRMITIES OF AGE CAUSED DEATH OF MRS. COOLEY

WITHOUT WARNING SHE WAS OVERCOME AT HOME OF MRS. STEWART.

Last Thursday morning about 9 a. m. Mrs. Catherine Cooley died suddenly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. C. Stewart, on 4th St.

Quietly going about her household duties she suddenly grasped for a support, but before falling to the floor her daughter, Mrs. Stewart, saved her. In a few moments she expired quietly. She had been preserving jelly and was just finishing the work when she died. Mrs. Cooley was born in Rutledge, Vermont, 75 years ago. During 30 years she had lived in Sacramento, but moved to the Stewart home in Washington two years ago.

Besides Mrs. Stewart she was the mother of Alvina, Herbert and Bertha Cooley, all deceased. Her husband, J. H. Cooley, now 85 years old, survives her.

Mrs. Cooley was seldom in the public eye. She believed her time belonged to her home and her children and to them she devoted all her time. She was a member of the Christian Church and lived up to its teachings as closely as possible.

Her funeral will be held next Sunday at 2:30 p. m. from the home of her daughter. Interment will be in the Odd Fellows Cemetery. Rev. Fraser Langford will officiate.

HART'S TUG LORNA BURNED TO WATER EDGE

While the tugboat Lorna was towing the big steamboat Capital City from her moorings at the M street wharf Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, fire broke out in her hold, an electric spark being the cause so far as known. The two men on board, after making frantic efforts to extinguish the flames, at last succeeded in freeing the tugboat from the steamer. Their own safety was then in question, and it was none too soon when a rowboat put off from shore to rescue the rivermen from their flaming vessel.

The tugboat drifted into the steamer Riverside, but was pushed away before any damage was done. The Capital City and the San Jacinto endeavored to play streams on the fire, but the blaze was not subdued until the city fire department sent engines to the scene.

The Lorna a total wreck, lies now near the foot of N street.

City recognizes senior center helpers

From the West Sacramento Senior Center

The City of West Sacramento recently recognized our Senior Center's many volunteer workers for their hard work and dedication during the past year. A videotape of the event is being aired every Tuesday night this month (September) on Sonic Cable TV Channel 21 at 6 p.m.

This effort to thank the Center's "Shining Stars" was hosted by Susan Roi, Center Supervisor. Guest speakers and award presenters were Mayor Greg Potnick and Don Schatzel, Director of Parks and Community Services.

The "brightest star" was Danny Parisi, who was selected as the Center's 1996 "Volunteer Extraordinaire." He was given a gold "key to the Center" on a gold necklace -- and his name is engraved on a plaque.

The TV show ends with a review of activities during this year's Senior Center Awareness Week, including arts and crafts displays, Tai Chi and Stretchersize demonstrations, the Songsters Chorus, country line dancing, and the Washboard Band playing and singing "You Are My Sunshine."

Local involved in missile attack on Iraq

Navy Seaman Frank J. Lavorico, son of Raymond and Constance L. Lavorico of West Sacramento, was involved in the recent Tomahawk cruise missile attacks on Iraq intended to convince Iraq to halt military operations against the Kurdish people in Northern Iraq, and to deter further Iraqi attacks against their own people. Lavorico is assigned to the guided missile destroyer USS Laboon currently deployed in the Persian Gulf. The ship left its homeport of Norfolk, Va. in May for a scheduled six-month deployment to the Persian Gulf to enforce U.N. sanctions against Iraq.

Laboon fired Tomahawk cruise missiles at Iraqi air defense sites and command and control facilities in Southern Iraq.

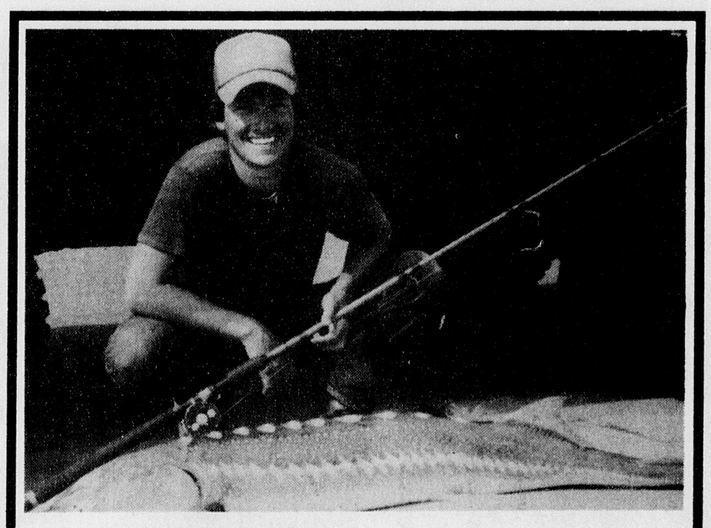

An AEGIS destroyer, USS Laboon is one of the most powerful warships ever put to sea. The computer-based AEGIS weapons system is the heart of the ship's combat capability. It centers around a powerful radar that enables the crew to detect, track and fire on more than 100 targets at a time. USS Laboon has the ability to rapidly launch as many as 90 Tomahawk missiles, each capable of hitting targets hundreds of miles away. During the September 3 strikes, USS Laboon fired 13 missiles against Iraqi targets.

Lavorico is one of more than 15,000 sailors and Marines deployed in the Persian Gulf serving aboard ships of the U.S. Fifth Fleet. The sailors and Marines enforce United Nations sanctions against Iraq while forward-deployed to the region. The Fifth Fleet routinely consists of 20-30 ships including an aircraft carrier battle group and amphibious ready group.

The 1994 graduate of River City High School joined the Navy in February, 1995.

Support local police cadets: wash your car, buy a muffin

From the West Sacramento Police Department

The West Sacramento Police Department Explorers will be having a car wash and bake sale on Saturday, September 21, from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. All proceeds from the event will go toward the Specialized Law Enforcement Explorer Training the Explorers will be attending in Nevada in October.

The car wash and bake sale will be located in the parking lot by Payless Shoe Source at the corner of West Capitol Avenue and Jefferson Blvd. in West Sacramento. There are no set prices for the car wash; you "name your own price" after your car has been washed. The Explorers will also have baked goods, soda and water available to purchase while you are waiting for your car to be washed. Take some extra baked goods home as a treat for your family.

The Explorers are raising money for a four-day Specialized Law Enforcement Explorer Training Conference in October. The conference is a "high stress" environment and is unique in format. Explorers who attend will face many challenges, some physical, emotional and mental. The Explorers are kept active and involved in a training process for the entire conference. The impact of this conference on the Explorers is long-lasting and most who attend come back for a second and third time if possible. This will be the first year of attendance for the West Sacramento Police Department Explorers.

The Explorers are young adults ages 14-21 who are interested in law enforcement. They are supervised by department personnel and are used at most community functions for fingerprinting, traffic control, McGruff, etc.

If you are unable to make it to the car wash and are interested in helping the Explorers make it to the conference or would like more information about the Explorer Program, please contact Lisa Cox, Explorer advisor, West Sacramento Police Department, at 372-2461.

Before joining the CAWA, Pierini served as executive director for the California Peace Officers Association, beginning in 1984. He managed a staff of nine with a $1.4 million budget and 5,300 members statewide.

"Rodney's combined leadership skills and association background make him the perfect candidate for the job," CAWA's chairman of the board, Jim Klassen, was quoted in a CAWA press release. "CAWA is honored to have a person of Rodney's professional experience and integrity leading CAWA into the 21st century."

The association serves the wholesalers of automotive replacement parts, providing educational, legislative and business support services.

Pierini has a master's degree in criminal justice and a bachelor of arts in police science and administration from CSU Sacramento. He is a professor at the university in criminal justice planning.
